Mission Briefing: Mission 1 – Aerial Theatre

Plunder of Okamec

The inner world of Okamec was once a jewel of the Loppian System — golden temples rising above lush jungles, its skies filled with trading skiffs and the songs of prosperous Saurian hosts. Then the miasma came.

Now the planet is a rotting paradise. Fungal cathedrals pierce the toxic haze. Rivers of slime carry the whispers of Plague Daemon Poisonzeal. Ancient treasures still gleam beneath layers of decay: Voidcrown fragments, priceless Saurian relics, and stockpiles of pre-plague technology ripe for the taking. Long-term occupation is suicide. The miasma eats through seals, fouls engines, and drives even the toughest warriors mad within days. Yet the spoils are too rich to ignore.

Word of the windfall has drawn warbands, mercenary companies, corporate strike teams, cult raiders, and opportunistic warlords from across the Loppian System and beyond. Your army is among them. Whether you fight for survival, profit, forbidden knowledge, glory, or simple bloody conquest, the objective is the same: drop fast, grab what you can, and get off-world before the planet claims you.

High-altitude insertion craft scream through the poisoned skies. Drop pods and aerial transports disgorge troops straight into the ruins while rival forces clash overhead. Every faction has its own reasons for being here tonight:

- Some seek critical spare parts to keep their fleets or factories running.

- Others hunt relics or xenotech that could shift the balance of power in the wider war.

- Mercenaries chase fat contracts and whatever they can carry in their holds.

- Cults and rogue elements chase power, madness, or glory in the miasma's twisted gifts.

There is no time for grand strategy or holding ground. Strike hard, seize the objectives, destroy anyone who stands in your way, and exfiltrate with the loot. The planet does not forgive hesitation.

The skies above the ruins of Okamec are your battlefield. The winner is the force that plunders the most and still has troops left to fly away when the last transport lifts off.

Good hunting. The miasma waits for no one.

MISSION 1 - AERIAL THEATRE

MISSION BACKGROUND

Few forces had the fortitude to maintain a prolonged campaign amid the poisonous miasmas of Okamec. The majority of fighting there took place in the skies above, with only short, surgical missions being sent to the ground below.

THE BATTLEFIELD

For this mission you'll need a 6'x4' area, with 15+ pieces of terrain.

THE ARMIES

For this mission you'll need two armies of equal point cost, and each army must have at least one unit with Ambush.

DEPLOYMENT

The players roll-off, and the winner picks zone A or B to be their deployment zone, with their opponent taking the opposite. Then the players alternate in placing one unit each within their deployment zone, starting with the player that won the deployment roll-off.

FIRST TURN

The player that has won the deployment roll-off gets the first turn.

OBJECTIVES

Before deployment, place one objective maker at the centre of the table, and then players have to set up a total of 2 objective markers.

The players roll-off to see who goes first, and then alternate in placing one objective marker each outside of the deployment zones, and at least 9" away from other objectives.

At the end of each round, if a unit is within 3" of a marker whilst enemies aren't, then the objective is seized.

Markers don't stay under the player's control after leaving, and if units from both sides are contesting a marker, then it becomes neutral again.

At the end of each round, the player that controls the active objective gets 3 VPs.

At the end of the game, players get 1 VP for each enemy unit they destroyed, as well as 1 VP if no enemy unit is within 3" of any objective marker.

The game ends after 4 rounds, and the player that scored most VPs wins.

SPECIAL RULES

Aerial Theater: Units must have the Aircraft rule, must use the Ambush rule, or must be inside a Transport to be deployed. Units without any of the rules above may only be deployed via Ambush at the beginning of round 4.

First on the Field: Units may deploy from Ambush on the first round of the game.

Comms-Relay: At the beginning of each round, roll a D3 to determine which objective marker is active.

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT:

Airforce Equipment: Before the game begins, each army may provide D6+3 units with one of the following each:

- Homing Beacon: Friendly units using Ambush may ignore distance restrictions from enemies if they are within 12" of this model.
- Dive Chutes: This unit gets the Ambush special rule.

Interceptor Array: This unit gets the Lock-On rule on one of its ranged weapons.

